

Enriching Communities 2017

GCA Professional Services Group believes that our businesses and operations revolve around our communities while education is the foundation of community development. This spring, we have supported the Department of Management of City University of Hong Kong for the Organizational Consulting Project by letting the Master Degree student to review our corporation and to apply management consulting skills in a real organizational setting.

Our colleagues worked closely with the students from January to April 2017. In the final presentation, the students gave us independent perspective on issues we are facing. Great ideas were shared and practical recommendations were given by this group of fast learners.

We truly appreciate the effort made by the young and wish them a bright and prosperous future.
